Taylor, David

By most people's standards, David Taylor was living a dream life. He was the starting left tackle for the NFL Baltimore Colts. On the surface, it all looked very good. But, David knew life was ready to push him up against the wall.

"I felt like I was a walking time-bomb," says David. "I didn't know how long my football career would last. I had already had two knee surgeries. I had no security."

David knew there was more to life than what he was experiencing. He just didn't know what or how to make it happen. "This business came into my life at the perfect time," says David. "I was looking for an opportunity to be financially independent, as well as for a way to do something meaningful with my life."

In just 2½ years, David was able to walk away from football with his financial future totally secure. "Through this business, I have become free... both financially and mentally... beyond my wildest dreams. At the same time, many other people have benefited as a result of my efforts."

David enjoys a lifestyle that has allowed him the freedom to travel around the world, and to spend more time with his two children, now adults. "I love this business and the people, and I am so proud to share this opportunity with others. It is well worth the effort!"
